Project

- Github website

College event and registration page: user can access the event details and completion date time in our page over the internet. It is a user-friendly web application. The website features a responsive with navigation bar with links to the home page, event content page, about page and contact page. User has to access these pages with registration and login. These registration and login details have been stored in MySQL database.

Integrated React Router DOM to enable smooth routing, utilized Express to build a RESTful API to handle user authentication, used MySQL to store data.

- TODO-List Application

User can have it for their event purpose, they can create new task as they wish and they can upload and delete their task as well (HTML, CSS, Javascript).
